DECATOR, ILLINOIS:
Wednesday Evening, Dec. 16.

There is a village in Mexico called Chihuahua, from which a number of babies and young children have from time to time been missed. Now the Alcalde of this village was a gay and festive youth, whose constant care it was to meet a party of his friends at midnight, have a good supper of the gentle kid and the trichine-producing little pig. But suspicion was aroused. The Alcalde's quarters were searched, and there, in the twilight cold and gray, were found the bones of thirteen cooked infants, upon which the Alcalde and his friends had fed.

The debt of the State of Illinois on the 1st of January, 1875, will only be $1,750,000. Of this sum, $250,000 will be paid on that date, leaving a balance of $1,500,000. This includes $12,221 old debt on which interest has ceased and which has never been presented for payment. The State could readily pay the remainder of a million and a half, but has no means of compelling the creditors to accept their money. Thirty-five thousand dollars falls due January, 1877, $1,157,450 can be paid in January, 1878, and $241,000 in January, 1879. As the money to pay all this debt is in the Treasury, or will be paid in during 1876-7 without resort to taxation, the State of Illinois may be said to be practically free from debt, and will probably be kept free from debt for many years to come.

THAT editor S. M. Smith has a very exalted opinion of S. M. Smith, the Secretary of the State Farmers' Association, may be judged from the following extract taken from the last Industrial Age, of which S. M. Smith is one of the editors:

There is no man in Illinois that the monopolists hate as do S. M. Smith. And that they have reason to hate him, for he deals them more heavy blows than any other resident of the State. He has embraced the farmers' movement with the seal of an apostle and almost the intelligence and purity of an angel.

The last sentence is good, decidedly good, and we have no doubt that it is. S. M., like Enoch of old, will be translated. The farmers, we fear, will lose by depending upon such a saint, for the excommunicating good are apt to die young.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—King Kalakaua was formally presented to the President this afternoon. The members of the Cabinet, Col. Grant, Gen. Babcock, and Mr. Luckey, private secretary, were assembled in full dress for the purpose of receiving the King. On the approach of his Majesty's carriage, the President advanced from the threshold of the Executive Mansion, when the Secretary of State and Col. Grant—the latter personally representing his father—went to the carriage and received the King as he alighted, and, accompanying him on either side, crossed the platform to the entrance of the White House, where the President cordially extended his hand and received and welcomed the King. Other members of the Cabinet standing behind the President up to the time that he turned. The King then entered the room.

The Secretary of State then introduced the President to Governor Dominick and Governor Kapena. He then presented the King to the members of the Cabinet, Gen. Babcock, Col. Grant and Mr. Luckey. The President and King shortly seated themselves on a sofa, and the other gentleman moved at their pleasure, about the room, and entered into conversation with one another, gradually advancing toward where the President and King were seated.

A general conversation ensued. After about twenty minutes the King arose and the President accompanied him to the door. The Secretary of State and Col. Grant handed him into his carriage, and the ceremony was closed.

CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—A special dispatch from Des Moines, Iowa, says: This morning at about 2:30 o'clock a body of 150 men, disguised, entered the jail, knocked down the jailer, bound him hand and foot, took the keys to the cells from his pocket, overpowered the guards, and pocketed the cell where Chas. Johnson, who was under sentence to imprisonment for life, was confined. His wife who was sleeping with him, clung to him, uttering the most horrible shrieks, and it was only with the force of a half dozen men that Howard was dragged from his bed. A rope was placed about his neck and he was dragged through the hall and the Court house yard to a lamp post and hung. All the men had their faces blackened, and were divided into squads each doing its allotted work without a word spoken. After Howard had been fastened to the post the mob departed as silently as it came. It was supposed that the work was done by members of the vigilance committee in this county who have been recently holding meetings, and on Saturday when the jury came in with their verdict, several were seated near the prisoner.

A communication was received and read from R. N. Mills, the county physician, informing the board that the small-pox had broken out in the county house, and that he intended to remain there until they are well, and that Dr. Sibley would attend to all pauper cases until his return, and also desires that hereafter all paupers be examined before sent to the poor farm.

The Hon. A. B. Bunn appeared before the board on behalf of Mrs. Franz Corning, who is now confined in the county jail for keeping a house of ill-fame, and that she was convicted at the August term of the circuit court, and sentenced to six months confinement and that she has served a little over half of the time.

Mr. Cox—There is no mistake about it?

Mr. Garfield—"No sir."

Mr. Cox—"There is no little difference in ton or fifteen million dollars?"

Mr. Garfield—"No sir."

Mr. Cox—"That will be developed in course of time."

Mr. Garfield—"The gentleman will find that my remarks on that occasion have been fully borne out, and more than I then hoped."

The question being raised in regard to the capital police, Mr. Garfield explained that in view of the political change which would take place in the organization of the house of the next Congress, the Committee on Appropriations regarded it as somewhat indecorous to inaugurate changes which would mainly refer to the next House.

Mr. Wilson, of Indiana, thought the fact of pending changes should make no difference in cutting down expenses if it could be properly done.

Mr. Holman favored the abolition of Capitol Police and the increase in the number of watchmen, and offered an amendment to that effect which was agreed to.

After disposing of sixteen of the 73 pages of the bill the Committee rose.

Speaker Blaine announced as the committee to visit Vicksburg, Miss., Coeur d'Alene, Hurlburt, Williams, Wisconsin, Speer and O'Brien. As the Select Committee on the condition of Louisiana and the Southern States, Messrs.

A RUNAWAY THIEF OVERHAULED.

Ed Gray, a young negro who has been working for some time at Caldwell's livery stable, south of the St. Nicholas, mysteriously disappeared Monday night just as the Black Crook combination left for the east. It was then remarked by an employe in the stable that it was "mighty strange" how a lot of nice clothes was seized with a determination to leave at about the time of Gray's departure. On looking around it was found that a fine pair of boots and the best clothes to be found in the stable were missing. The loser thought he never would hear anything more of that colored boy, or the missing clothing, and believed himself to be some $40 or $50 out of pocket. He, however, informed Marshal Haworth of his loss, and that officer immediately began making inquiry after Gray. At the depot he found that he had boarded the eastern bound train with the Black Crook combination. Yesterday afternoon he ascertained that Gray was in Danville, and a telegram was immediately sent, ordering his arrest. He was "jugged" at Danville to await the arrival of an officer from this city to be his escort to the Macon county jail. The marshal last night sent John Gill to bring the man back to Decatur.

Meeting of Presiding Elders.—The annual meeting of the presiding elders of the Illinois Conference of the M. E.
Church, is in session at the First M. E.
Church in this city. The session commenced last evening, and will continue two or three days. The principal work of the session will be to apportion the several amounts to be raised by the Conference this year for benevolent purposes to the respective districts. Some other matters of importance, looking to the interest of the denomination will also be acted upon.

Among these ministers is Rev. J. H.
Noble, formerly pastor of the First Church, but now presiding elder of the Danville district. It is expected that some of these visiting ministers will ill preach in the lecture room of the church this evening.

For Several Years numerous experplenishing. Some of these experiments have proven partially successful, but none a perfect success, excepting the
